

Arguments In Steel Seizure Open Today Before High Court

By JERRY T. BAULCH
WASHINGTON — (P)—Attorneys for the administration and the vast steel industry open oral arguments before the Supreme Court today in an historic effort to settle finally whether President Truman's seizure of the steel mills was legal.

But the big question—whether the President has inherent powers under the Constitution to seize private industries in national emergencies—may go unanswered because of the various alternative courses open to the high tribunal.

Ruled Unconstitutional
The industry is asking the Supreme Court to uphold the April 29 decision of Federal Judge David A. Pine. Pine ruled that Truman's steel seizure order of April 8, issued to head off a strike was unconstitutional. He ordered the mills returned to their owners.

The Justice Department, supported by the CIO Steel Workers Union, is asking that Judge Pine's injunction against seizing the mills be reversed. The department contends that although the law does not spell out emergency seizure authority such as the President exercised his action is supported adequately by the Constitution.

The court may rule only on the narrow issue of the injunction itself and not decide the broad problem of just how much unwritten power a President has to meet a national emergency. Or, the whole case could be sent back to the lower court for further arguments and findings.

Attorneys Both Experts
There was no indication when the high court would hand down its decision. It could be within days or not for months.

The court set aside six hours for the two sides to present their viewpoints, starting this afternoon.

The veteran attorneys representing the administration and the steel industry are basing their oral arguments on briefs filed with the court Saturday.

Acting Atty-Gen. Philip B. Perlman, who as Solicitor-General argues federal cases before the high court, is presenting the Justice Department's stand. Now 62, Perlman in the past five years has argued 55 cases before the court—more than any Solicitor General in history—and won 45 with a few still undecided.

The steel companies are represented by 79-year-old John W. Davis, considered one of the nation's top constitutional lawyers.

Democrats Behind Williams, But Leave Room To Maneuver

GRAND RAPIDS — (P)—Michigan Democrats are ready with a favorite-son candidate, a big loophole and lots of delegates for the stormy job of picking a Presidential nominee this summer.

They prepared themselves Saturday at a state convention remarkable for its lack of controversy.

There was only one big fight—over the number of delegates to send to the national convention—and that seemed to stir only the factional leaders.

Support For Kefauver
Governor G. Mennen Williams was given a unanimous send-off as a favorite-son candidate for the Presidency, but both Williams and the delegates left themselves room to maneuver behind some other candidate when the chips are down.

The delegates were content to say they were behind Williams until he releases the Michigan delegation. Meanwhile they began signing Williams' petitions for renomination for governor.

Former Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner said he found lots of support among the delegates for U. S. Senator Estes Kefauver for the presidency. Van Wagoner is state chairman for Kefauver.

Both Williams and U. S. Senator Blair Moody were represented as holding themselves ready to board the band wagon of either U. S. Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois or Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. More than that, their friends said they might help to get one or the other band wagon started if they get a chance.

The convention sent 128 delegates and alternates to the Chicago convention—far more than can be seated, apparently. That left some one the ticklish job of deciding who shall be seated and who not. The delegation is a maze of full votes, half votes and one-third votes.

The one-third votes will be held by a group of 12 delegates at large, backed by four alternates at large.

The delegates at large chosen: Williams, Moody, State Chairman Neil Staebler, Miss Adelaide C. Hart, state vice-chairman; former U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, Van Wagoner, August Scholle, state CIO chairman; Robert P. Scott, secretary of the Michigan Federation of Labor; Charles W. Jones, former Detroit recorder's judge; Rep. Louis Mezzano of Wakefield; Antoinette Stanis of Detroit; and Mrs. Perry Lawr of Grand Rapids.

The alternates at large: former Attorney General Stephen J. Roth of Flint, Thomas Payne of Pontiac, state young Democrats chairman; Miss Lucille Belen of Lansing; and Dr. Samuel B. Milton of Lincoln Park, a Wayne county coroner.

Falling Meteor Shakes Seattle

SEATTLE — (P)—U. S. Air Force investigators and astronomers, after checking hundreds of eyewitness reports, said today a fiery object which exploded with violent force over Seattle and the surrounding Puget Sound country early Sunday probably was a meteor.

The object flashed across the sky at 1:26 a. m., PDT, Sunday. Airline pilots and ground observers said it exploded with a blinding flare and burst into flaming streamers. The rumbling concussion that followed rattled windows and shook doors.

Col. T. Allan Bennett, commanding officer of the 25th Air Defense division at McChord Air Force Base near Tacoma, and Dr. J. Hugh Pruett, University of Oregon astronomer and Pacific regional director of the American Meteor Society, agreed it probably was a meteor.

Bennett said none of the radar installations in the Pacific Northwest picked up the object on their screens and he doubted the object could have been an aircraft or guided missile.

Ridgway Leaves Tokyo To Take Top NATO Post

By OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO — (P)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who blocked the Communists in Korea and engineered the end of the Allied occupation of Japan, left today on his way to Europe to succeed Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It was only a year, a month and a day ago that Ridgway, soldier, diplomat and Pentagon troubleshooter, took over from Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Supreme Commander of Allied Powers in Japan.

As he left he turned over his United Nations and Far Eastern commands to Gen. Mark Clark. Clark then kissed the young and charming Mrs. Ridgway goodbye and she walked up the plane ramp with her distinguished husband.

The glistening Constellation left at 3:09 p. m. (1:09 a. m., EST), for Honolulu.

At Haneda airport were diplomats and high brass. The crowd cheered when Ridgway said from the plane ramp:

"I am deeply honored by this ceremony. To see the armed forces lined up side by side seems to me not only a tribute of purpose but also of the peoples they represent and all the free people of the world."

"I have complete and unshakable faith in this command. Both Mrs. Ridgway and I want to express our heartfelt thanks for your services and our best wishes to you always."

Ridgway will travel via Honolulu and San Francisco to Washington, where he will confer with President Truman before proceeding to his NATO command.

Backers Of Ike Left Up In Air

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON — (P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's assertion that he won't campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination appeared today to have left some of his supporters up in the air about future developments.

Hours after Eisenhower said in Norway that he won't strive for the nomination, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York told a television audience yesterday he believes the general will declare his position on major issues when he returns to this country early in June.

But Dewey could offer his questioners no assurance the general will make any speeches beyond a scheduled homecoming address at Abilene, Kans., June 4. Eisenhower said in Norway that if the people want him for President "they will know where to find me."

Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania, who sometimes has not agreed with Dewey on the strategy of the Eisenhower pre-convention drive, told this reporter he believes the best way to win a nomination fight or any other kind of a battle is to take the offensive.

Although he didn't say so in as many words, Duff made it clear he thinks Eisenhower ought to speak out on the major issues shortly after his return to this country.

Youths Steal Gas

DETROIT — (P)—Three youths have been arrested for questioning in what police fear will be the start of a rash of gasoline thefts brought on by the current shortage. Held are James G. Barg, 20, Elmos Dick, 18, and a 16-year-old. Police said they were caught siphoning gasoline from a parked truck.

Taft Is Favored In West Virginia

By DON WHITEHEAD
CHARLESTON, W. Va. — (P)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was favored today to grab the lion's share of West Virginia's 16 GOP national convention delegates to be elected in tomorrow's primary. But supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower were making a strong bid to split the state's delegation.

The Eisenhower people were fighting on two fronts to check the Taft Presidential drive in West Virginia by:

(1) Trying to split the convention delegates between Taft and Eisenhower; and

(2) Urging voters to write the name "Ike" across the names of Taft and Harold E. Stassen in the Presidential preference section of the primary ballot.

Taft and Stassen are the only Presidential candidates whose names will be on the "popularity" section of the ballot. Eisenhower was not entered in the primary and West Virginia law makes no provision for write-in votes.

So to take the edge off an almost certain Taft victory in the popularity vote, voters are being urged in newspaper advertisements to write "Ike" across the Taft-Stassen names even though such a vote cannot be counted legally for Eisenhower.

Wisconsin Coed Left For Dead On Prairie After Brutal Attack

LARAMIE, Wyo. — (P)—A University of Wyoming coed, apparently left for dead by a brutal assailant, was found unconscious yesterday on a lonely prairie north of here.

The girl, Virginia Anderson, 24, Mauston, Wis., is in critical condition from a head injury, shock and exposure. She was still unconscious today.

Sheriff Ted Bustad theorized she was the victim of an attempted rape but said his office "is without a clue or lead." She had been missing since late Friday.

Legislators Return Wednesday; MacArthur In Lansing Thursday

LANSING — (P)—The state do not expect much success. The Democrats have sufficient votes in the House to block votes.

Senator Harry F. Hittle (R-East Lansing), a key Senator, has said the Legislature should make another attempt to balance the budget with additional tax measures, but other lawmakers contend that the red ink budget is Williams' fault and that he should be made to live with it.

At the previous, illegal session, the Legislators talked of appropriating a few hundred thousand dollars for the immediate repair of the riot-torn prison. They were not in any mood to finance the entire rehabilitation.

Tax Measures Vetoed
The ever-present legislative problem, money, will largely dominate the resumption of deliberations halted last April 12.

In the interim, Governor Williams has vetoed some $18,000,000 of Republican tax measures, throwing the budget out of balance by at least that much. And a riot at the state prison of Southern Michigan has accumulated at least $1,250,000 worth of damage to be paid for.

The riot has presented other legislative problems, mainly dealing with the size of the guard force, the proper administration of the prison and the penalties, if any, to be imposed on rebel inmates.

Several lawmakers have ready bills to impose the death penalty on inmates who injure or kill prison guards—a sort of insurance policy against any future riots.

Williams already has indicated he will complicate the Legislature's fiscal debate by demanding more money for the present guard staff, more money for an expansion of the guard force and probationary more money for new prison buildings to eliminate overcrowding at the Southern Michigan prison.

Republican legislative chiefs probably will make an attempt to override Williams' vetoes, but they

Air Force Uncovers Old Arctic Secrets; Peary Cache Found

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — (P)—The daring North Pole Air Force plane-landing party has uncovered more of the Arctic's secrets.

One, a cache left by the Rear Adm. Robert E. Peary expeditions in the early 1900s, had laid hidden nearly a half century. Others, scientific secrets, are as old as the Arctic itself.

The Air Command told today of more of the work done by scientists and observers on the historic flight May 4 in which Lt. Col. William P. Benedict, of Paradise, Calif., landed a C-47 and took off three hours and 10 minutes later from the geographic North Pole.

Ice Pack Cracks
These were some of the results: The depth of the ocean below the ice was determined by a seismograph echo sounding at 14,150 feet. Dr. Tibert P. Cray and his assistant, Robert Cottell, of the Cambridge Research Center, Cambridge, Mass., bored a 10-foot hole in a thick ice floe and dropped two pounds of TNT and exploded it in the experiment.

The annual spring thaw was opening great cracks in the pack ice forming the polar ice cap.

Window Washer Dies In Sulphuric Acid At Lansing Factory
LANSING — (P)—A window washer fell into a tank of hot sulphuric acid at the Oldsmobile forge plant here yesterday and died within seconds.

An employee of the Industrial Window Cleaning Co. of Lansing, the victim was identified as Leo Cunningham, about 50.

Cunningham apparently lost his footing on a scaffold 18 feet above the pickling tank and fell through a maze of conveyor belts and tubes into the 160-degree liquid.

Red POWs Threatened To Kill U. S. General

SEOUL, Korea — (P)—Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd said tonight Communist prisoners of war who held him hostage on Koje Island four days last week threatened to kill him if the U. S. Eighth Army tried to rescue him by force.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, new supreme U. N. commander, said in Tokyo the Red POWs were granted some minor concessions. He termed their original demands for Dodd's release "unadulterated blackmail." He seemed to hint they would not be honored.

Newsman Visit Koje
Clark said the reply to the prisoners "was made under duress at a time when the life of General Dodd was at stake."

The correspondents were not permitted to question the general. It was the first time they had been allowed to see him.

Dodd said he was well treated by the Reds while a captive in Compound 76 on the island—the U. N. No. 1 camp for tough prisoners. He seemed healthy.

The general said demands made by the prisoners in exchange for his release were "inconsequential" and that concessions granted by the camp authorities were "of minor importance."

Planned In Advance
Stockade officers said the prisoners apparently had planned the capture at least a week in advance. Within minutes after they seized Dodd, the Reds broke out bawling saying:

"We captured Dodd. If our problems are resolved his security is guaranteed. If there is any brutal act or shooting, his life is in danger."

Clark said a full investigation of "the violent and treacherous kidnapping of General Dodd and the circumstances surrounding the negotiations and his ultimate release" is under way.

Brig. Gen. Charles Colson, Charleston, S. C., was placed in command of the Koje camp on Thursday, the day after Dodd was seized.

Flags Put On Floe
The Admiral Peary cache was found on one of the plane's flights and landings over the region. The plane was traveling at low altitude over Cape Columbia, Ellesmere Island, where the Peary expeditions left the last land to start a 500-mile trek over the ice.

The cache was spotted and upon landing the party found it contained names and dates between 1900 and 1909. There were four metal and wood boxes.

In other work, the expedition left at the North Pole six water-tight glass jars, wrapped in eye-catching luminescent red silk. The jars contained notes about the expedition and any finders were asked to record the date and position found and report to the Air Force research center. Such information may supply information on the speed and direction of little-known Arctic ocean currents.

Th position of the floe as the geographic North Pole was verified by the navigator, First Lt. Herbert Thompson, Allenwood, Kan., by training his sextant on the sun.

Lt. Col. Benedict and Lt. Cool, Joseph Fletcher, of Shawnee, Okla., said they stacked four empty oil drums into a cairn, topped by an American flag. They also thrust an Air Force flag into the top of another barrel.

It was only by sheer coincidence, Sgt. Blair reported, that such an

Gunfire Breaks Up Communist Clash At Essen

BONN, Germany — (P)—West Germany's impending peace contract brought a bloody weekend battle to industrial Essen and reports today that East Germany's Communist rulers are readying a drastic step-up in the cold war against the West and tighter Russian-East Germany ties.

One young Communist was killed in the Essen riot, in which police gunfire broke up a clash between anti-Reds and 30,000 Communist-led youths demonstrating against plans to rearm West Germany for Western defense. Scores of demonstrators were injured and several were arrested.

Peace Pact Opposed
Here in the capital, meanwhile Chancellor Konrad Adenauer met with rebellious leaders from his government coalition forces. Their opposition to the peace pact threatens its chances of ratification by the West German parliament.

Despite Adenauer's urging, the opponents were reported still adamant that the United States, Britain and France concede more before West German troops are furnished for the projected European army. The Allies already have said they have gone as far as they will.

As the talks on the peace pact continued in Bonn, informed East zone sources in Berlin said that Communist-surrounded metropolis has been chosen by the Russian and East German leaders as the focal point of their campaign against the western agreement.

Convicts Stage Hunger Strike

ANGOLA, La. — (P)—A gas attack on 120 convicts broke a four day hunger strike at Camp H of the state penitentiary here today.

Supt. D. D. Bazer, who led some 25 prison foremen and convict guards into the camp dining room to seize 25 ringleaders, said, "the strike is broken."

Bazer, who had previously ignored the strike, said he led the march on the dining hall after he received appeals from some "innocent sufferers" in the camp, including some elderly men who were feeling the effects of meager food.

The white convicts in the camp which houses first offenders went on strike five days ago protesting long working hours in the prison's sugar cane fields. Bazer had let them sit idle until today. The superintendent ejected a radio reporter from the state penitentiary here yesterday and ignored accusations he had threatened to kill the newsmen for questioning the strikers.

The reporter was James Van Sickle, radio news director for Station KWKH at Shreveport. Bazer said guards brought up an ammonia pressure tank used in spraying cane fields and stuck the hose inside a messhall window.

"The convicts came out quietly then," he said.

"No one was hurt. We grabbed the 25 agitators 'and put 'em in solitary. We fixed breakfast for the others and are leaving them alone."

Van Sickle, meanwhile, said when Bazer found him talking to prisoners yesterday, "he drew his pistol and said I'm going to kill you."

"In the few minutes I had alone with the six convicts who form the camp grievance committee," Van Sickle said, "I learned the points of their strike."

"First they say," the news director said, "the food in the camp is abominable and carelessly cooked. Secondly, they say that the captain of the camp has treated them with extreme brutality despite the governor's orders that brutality cease."

He said the convicts complain their work hours are from 4:30 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. in the cane fields.

"They say the treatment for all ailments is epsom salts," Van Sickle said. "The prisoners appeared to be conducting an orderly sit-down strike. There was hardly a sound to disturb the outward calm."

Two Hurt As Car Overturns

Two persons were injured in an automobile accident last evening when the car in which they were riding ran off the highway and overturned about one mile west of the Portage Creek bridge on US-41.

In St. Francis Hospital this morning were the driver of the car, Mary Olive, 34, 427 Minnesota Ave., Gladstone, suffering from chest injuries, and a passenger, Pearl Royer, 23, of 524 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, with body bruises. The extent of the injuries were to be determined by X-ray.

The accident occurred at approximately 7:55 p. m.

Mrs. Olive, told investigating officials of the county sheriff's department that the headlights of an approaching westbound car blinded her and caused her to run partly off the south side of the highway.

Undersheriff Clarence Johnson reported that she apparently lost control of the car after getting back on the highway, driving across the north lane, off the highway and into the field.

After it left the highway, the car travelled about 225 feet, striking two small trees and overturning, before coming to rest on its roof.

Mrs. Olive was pinned between the steering wheel and the seat of the overturned car when police officials came on the scene about a half hour later.

Also riding in the car but unharmed were the husbands of the injured parties, Marvin Olive and Wilfred Royer.

The women were taken to St. Francis Hospital by ambulance.

City Reports Work Progress

Progress is being made in Escanaba on several city projects including streets improvement, construction of a new water pumping and filtration plant, and completion of a new city gas plant, it was reported today by City Manager A. V. Aronson.

Grading, graveling and oil treatment has been completed on eight city blocks in preparation for blacktop surfacing next summer, it was reported.

Six blocks of street improvement are on North 12th St. from 21st St. to Sheridan road, and two blocks are in the Goulais Addition. The blacktopping is scheduled for August and the most favorable weather conditions for the work.

The city's sandsucker dredge is being readied for the season at the yacht basin and later will be put into service making fill at the new water plant site at Sand Point. A total of 30,000 yards of sand fill will be pumped around the water plant.

The city's new propane gas plant is being readied to start operating about July 1. Protective cyclone fencing is now being erected, the supply of liquefied petroleum for the coming year has been ordered, and conversions of individual gas installations to liquid propane gas will be made in June.

Mrs. Skerbeck Taken By Death

Mrs. Ida Marie Skerbeck, of Dorchester, Wis., who was associated over a half century with her husband, Joe Skerbeck, in the colorful Skerbeck Shows, died at 10 p. m. Sunday at St. Francis Hospital, Escanaba, after a 5-day illness. She was 69.

She was born July 13, 1882, in Oberplan, Czechoslovakia, and came to the United States when she was 18. She had completed her high school education in Czechoslovakia, specializing in languages, and spoke her native tongue, German and English fluently.

Her marriage to Joseph Skerbeck took place in 1901 and the couple celebrated their golden wedding last summer.

She and her husband owned and operated the Skerbeck Circus traveling through Minnesota many years. They later went into the traveling motion pictures business but three years later returned to the circus. Together they traveled in every state in the union.

For the past 12 years the show which now is known as the Skerbeck Amusement Co., has stored in Escanaba.

Mrs. Skerbeck was a member of St. Louis Catholic Church in Dorchester and a charter member of the Woman's Catholic Order of Foresters and the Christian Mothers.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters and one son, Pauline, Mrs. George Greaser and Eugene, Dorchester; three sisters, Mrs. George Patrick of Minneapolis and Mrs. Freda Vit and Mrs. Olga Kauler in Germany, one brother, Brother Conrad, of the Norbertine Order, also in Germany and 3 grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Boyce Funeral Home to be prepared for burial and was removed to the Edward J. Fuchsgruber Funeral Home in Dorchester. Services probably will be held Wednesday morning at St. Louis Church with Father Kalenhofer officiating. Burial will be in Dorchester Cemetery.

Hardware Men Plan Meeting

Why customers patronize one store in preference to another will be discussed by Earl McIntyre, Advertising & Community Relations Consultant, Michigan Retail Hardware Association, when he presents the subject "It Pays To Advertise" to the hardware store owners and employees of Delta, Menominee, and Schoolcraft counties attending the 28th annual District Meeting sponsored by the Association on Thursday eve., May 15, in the House of Ludington, Escanaba according to the announcement today by William Baum, Baum Hardware, Escanaba, chairman of the meeting.

Dinner is scheduled to be served at 7 p. m., followed by the program that will include Mr. McIntyre, Michael D. Knopik, Midland, and Harold W. Schumacher, Lansing, president and manager, respectively, of the Association.

President Knopik will discuss the campaign for economy in government and reduction of taxes. Manager Schumacher will present a slide picture on the profitable way to display merchandise.

School Leaders, Editors Confer

Approximately 75 members of the Upper Peninsula Association of School Board Members and Superintendents and editors of Upper Peninsula daily and weekly newspapers met in joint conference at the Lydia M. Olson library, Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, Saturday to discuss school-press relationships.

The keynote speech was given by Otto Haisley, superintendent of schools at Ann Arbor and president of the Michigan Association of School Administrators, whose subject was "The Editor and the Superintendent."

In his address, Mr. Haisley emphasized that a free press and free public education are essential to preserve our democratic society and that the two agencies should cooperate with each other "for a common cause."

He described a newspaper as a semi-public utility which must be sensitive to the threats to freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights.

A panel of editors, board members and school superintendents discussed the school-press relationship in a forum, "The Issues As We See Them," in which Mr. Haisley served as moderator. Members of the panel included E. A. Moore, Marquette, and R. A. Watson, Gladstone, representing the newspapers; Paul Kinville, Marquette, and Philip Pearson, Iron River, representing the viewpoint of the school board members; and A. E. Erickson, Ironwood, and C. L. Brystrom, Newberry, representing the viewpoint of the school superintendents.

After the luncheon meeting, during which George Gilbert, retiring M. E. A. representative in the Upper Peninsula, was presented with several gifts, discussion groups met to explore the problems more fully.

Attending from Escanaba were Supt. John A. Lembo, Board Member Harold Crebo and Ken Gunderman, editor of the Escanaba Press.

ART INSTRUCTOR — The final lecture in the series, "Art in Your Every-Day Life," sponsored by the University of Minnesota Extension Service, will be presented Tuesday, May 13 at 7:30 p. m. by Prof. Ralph Hammett, whose subject will be "Modern Architecture."

Prof. Hammett taught at the University of Minnesota, University of Washington and Armour Institute of Technology before joining the staff of the University of Michigan. He will use slides to illustrate his lecture.

An auto driven by Rodney C. Ames, Rapid River, at 12:55 a. m. today collided with the Chicago North Western streamliner at the Stephenson Ave. crossing. No one was injured.

Police reported they were told that Ames was talking with a passenger, John Lindahl, 1601 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, and did not see the flagman or the train. Ames was traveling 30 miles an hour at the time of the crash, police said.

It was the second accident at the crossing this weekend. Proposed installation of automatic flashing signals at the crossing is being studied by the Escanaba Safety Advisory Council at the request of the City Council.

Editorials—

Meeting Of Editors, School Men Helps To Remove News Barriers

IF there is any lack of desire upon the part of newspaper editors and public school administrators for cooperation, we were unable to discern it at the meeting of editors and school executives Saturday at Marquette.

Both groups agreed whole heartedly that school news and actions of school boards are matters of great public interest. For their part, the editors told the school administrators and board members that the newspapers are eager to get all of the school news—completely and accurately. The school executives in turn agreed that the editors should have access to all of the happenings, trends and policies of the schools and that the school leaders should assist in securing that information for the benefit of the public.

It has not always been this way, even in the Upper Peninsula, and in many parts of the country it is not this way today. Some school boards have preferred to conduct their affairs in privacy, disregarding the fact that public schools are tax-supported and that the folks who pay the bill possess the right to know how their money is being spent.

In Escanaba the school-newspaper relationship is decidedly unique. The school board owns the newspaper, acquiring ownership by the bequest of the founder and publisher of the Escanaba Press, John P. Norton. It is only a fleeting ownership, however, because the board must sell the property to secure funds for the establishment of a scholarship trust fund created in the will of the late Mr. Norton.

But long before the turn of events which resulted in the ownership of the newspaper being transferred to the board of education, the relationship between the newspaper and the schools was one of mutual cooperation. The Press has consistently covered school board meetings with its reporters sitting in on the meetings, reporting what the Press, not the schools, believed to be of public interest. It is this way now and we believe it will be in the future, even as the newspaper returns to private ownership.

The meeting of editors, school executives and school board members at Marquette was a constructive meeting, results of which are certain to be reflected in public benefit.

It would be well for the cause of press freedom if more meetings of this kind could be arranged so that further progress could be attained in removing the barriers to public information. There still are many agencies of government resisting the public's right to know.

Business Safeguards States Rights

THE total taxes an industry pays in relation to its overall income is often stated, but seldom is the tax broken down into its component parts. When that is done it shows how dependent our free educational system is on private taxpaying industry.

To take one illustration out of thousands, a railroad has published an analysis of its total taxes for the State of Montana. From its property tax of $2,553,126, more than half, or $1,383,577 goes to state public schools and colleges. The state university receives $185,378 and elementary and high schools $1,198,199.

This is just one company in one of the 48 states. Multiply this company's contribution to education by tax payments from countless other companies over the country and some idea of the magnitude of industry's support of American education can be gained. It totals hundreds of millions of dollars in local taxes.

By supporting schools with local tax dollars education can remain free from all central government dictation and mandatory demands. This in turn protects every citizen from the discipline of a Federally dominated state educational system.

States rights are preserved by taxing industries, hence every state has a tremendous stake in encouraging private enterprise.

Questions and Answers

Q—How many sisters did George Washington have?
A—Washington had one sister, Betty, who married Col. Fielding Lewis. He also had two half-sisters.

Q—Is cattle raising an important industry among the American Indians?
A—American Indians own about 400,000 cattle and make $30 million a year from the sale of livestock and livestock products.

Q—How long is the new New Jersey turnpike?
A—It runs for 118 miles.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—When the nine black-robed justices of the Supreme Court assemble today, they will not hear arguments merely on seizure of the steel mills. They will also have echoing in the background of the court chamber 150 years of argument over the same vital question of the President's power and where does it stop.

They will likewise have as precedents at least four famed Republicans who did pretty much the same thing as Mr. Truman, Democrat.

It's possible that the supreme court may try to duck this basic issue. If so, they have an easy way out. They can cite their own opinion in 1867 when the State of Mississippi sought an injunction against President Andrew Jackson to prevent him from "reconstructing" Mississippi's government, and when the court ruled that no court has the power to enjoin the President of the United States.

Therefore, the Supreme Court today, citing this, could find that Judge Pine had no right to enjoin Secretary of Commerce Sawyer who was carrying out the direct orders of the President.

This, however, would not decide the fundamental issue of the President's power—a debate which began about the time the constitution was written and which has probably found more Republicans than Democrats upholding the powers now claimed by Mr. Truman. Here are some of them.

ILLEGAL WAR WITH FRANCE

Republican No. 1 to side with Mr. Truman was none other than the founder of the party, Alexander Hamilton. Hamilton went so far as to claim that the President of the United States had just as great power as the King of England when he ruled the 13 colonies. Among other things, Hamilton declared that, though the constitution gives Congress the power to declare war, the President also has the power to make or declare war without the consent of Congress.

Republican No. 2 was President John Adams who conducted an undeclared naval war with France in 1798. He even recalled George Washington from retirement at Mount Vernon to assume command of the American armed forces in preparation for a full-scale military operation. All this he did without authorization from and despite bitter opposition from Congress.

Incidentally, Thomas Jefferson, founder of Harry Truman's party, disagreed with Hamilton and Adams. But later, on becoming President, Jefferson followed their ideas by conducting war on the Barbary pirates; President Madison likewise ordered Gen. Andrew Jackson to take over Florida without any okay from Congress.

PROPERTY ILLEGALLY SEIZED

Republican No. 3 to set important precedents for Harry Truman was the man generally considered the foremost leader of the Republican party—Abraham Lincoln.

It was Lincoln who, without any congressional permission, engineered the most sweeping seizure of private property in all American history—the Emancipation Proclamation. There is no doubt, as far as actual legality was concerned, that the freeing of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of slaves was highly questionable.

Lincoln pushed the presidential power to its limits in other respects. He set up military commissions to supersede the courts, suspended the writ of habeas corpus, and forcibly disbanded the Maryland Legislature.

Republican No. 4 who seemed to agree with President Truman was Teddy Roosevelt. It was Teddy's belief that, regardless of congressional consent, the President was the "steward" of the national welfare, and empowered to take any action for the national safety so long as the constitution did not specify otherwise.

Thus "TR" seized Panama without even intimating to Congress what he was up to. After taking over the isthmus he asked his attorney general, Philander C. Knox, to write an opinion upholding the legality of his action.

"Mr. President," replied Knox, "I should prefer that your action be without a single taint of legality."

The Skeptics

After Stalin - Who? Communists Say Molotov, Malenkov Or Beria

By LEON DENNEN

NEA Staff Correspondent
PARIS (NEA)—In the midst of conflicting reports about the failing health of Joseph Stalin, ruler of Soviet Russia and world communism, the 72-year-old dictator turned up in Moscow this spring for a rare public appearance.

Dispatches, cleared by Soviet censors, said the Premier looked fit and vigorous. But it was the first time he had been seen in Moscow since the Lenin memorial meeting in January.

A satellite diplomat who saw him then said afterward that Stalin seemed aged, tired and ravaged with disease. It is a known fact that he is suffering from a heart ailment. Soviet experts in Europe believe the rumors about his failing health are probably true.

Apparently he is not well enough to make his usual frequent winter trips to Moscow from his retreat at Sochi, 700 miles away on the Black Sea. Even top-level Politburo conferences are reported to be held there now.

Stalin is a Georgian, one of a sturdy half-primitive people that boasts more centenarians than any other of the numerous nationalities that make up the Soviet Union. But even Georgians are mortal.

Should Stalin die who is likely to succeed him as ruler of world communism?

Who in the Communist underworld can inherit the legendary glory with which the master of the Kremlin surrounded himself during his lifetime?

As yet, little credible information has come out of the secret chambers of the Kremlin. But the Cominform underworld—where the grapevine is frequently faster and more accurate than the controlled press—is seething with rumor.

Members of Stalin's immediate entourage are reported to be cautiously maneuvering in anticipation of his death. There is even talk of a shism inside the all-powerful Politburo.

Cominform chieftains—in the East or in the West—must know in advance who is likely to be their next boss if they are to keep their jobs.

Many owe their present positions to the fact that they rallied in time to Stalin's side—while he still engaged in mortal combat with Leon Trotsky and other early associates of Lenin.

Those who recall Stalin's own climb to power during Lenin's long illness see a familiar pattern in the intrigues, heresy-hunting and purges now taking place in the Cominform and behind the iron curtain.

The West was recently baffled by the purge of Rudolf Slansky, former Secretary General of the Czech Communist Party.

Russian-trained Slansky was for years a trusted agent of the Kremlin, the Politburo's eyes and ears in the Cominform. Yet like Traicho Kostov in Bulgaria, Laszlo Rajk in Hungary, and other devoted Stalinists behind the iron curtain, he is facing "liquidation" by firing squad.

Why? Is it because Vyacheslav M. Molotov, in his bid for Stalin's mantle, seeks to consolidate his strength in the Cominform by supporting Slansky's rival and bitter enemy, Czech President Klement Gottwald?

So They Say

I will say for the record that according to the best advice, what we are building in practically every field that we know anything about represents superior weapons to those of the Soviets—Army Chief of Staff Gen. J. Lawton Collins.

The scale of rearmament urged upon the democracies by the U. S. is a source not of strength, but of weakness.—Left-wing British Labor leader Aneurin Bevan.

I swear to goodness this thing could reach a point where you'll have to carry a fashion magazine to the circus to be sure of what's going on.—Circus publicity agent Frank Braden commenting on the fancy turnishing worn by circus animals nowadays.

This is the prevailing view in many western Cominform circles.

Were Kostov and Rajk executed by the secret MVD because they were adherents of the late Cominform boss Andrei Zhdanov?

Zhdanov was widely regarded as the man designated by Stalin as his successor. But he was held responsible by Georgi M. Malenkov—another rising candidate for the Red throne—for the break between Marshall Tito and Stalin. As Cominform chief, Zhdanov apparently failed to "liquidate" Tito in time.

The 50-year-old Zhdanov died suddenly in 1948 under mysterious circumstances. Two entirely different communiques announcing his death were issued by the Kremlin—one within a few hours of the other.

A top French Communist leader has since told me that Zhdanov committed suicide. The Frenchman himself was involved in the Stalin-Tito "affair." Zhdanov chose suicide rather than fight it out and eventually face an MVD firing squad.

A bloody purge of "zhdanovists" in Russia and in the Cominform followed.

With Zhdanov dead, three members of the Politburo are considered likely successors to Stalin—Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Georgi M. Malenkov and Lavrenti P. Beria.

They are the most powerful men in the Politburo. They are part of Stalin's "inner cabinet" charged with the conduct of Russia's global hot-cold war. Together, or separately, it is they who will decide the question of world peace or world war should the aged and ailing dictator die.

Stalin has been acting as a sort of fatherly "moderator" between the warring factions.

By resorting to his traditional "zig-zag tactic," Stalin has managed to rotate his three crown princes in the limelight without, however, giving any one of them too much power inside the Politburo.

The aging dictator obviously wants to prevent the type of coup d'etat he himself engineered when Lenin was on his death-bed.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE IRON STRIKE—R. A. Brotherton of Negaunee, member of one of Escanaba's pioneer families, knows the history of iron ore in the Upper Peninsula better than any man.

In a recent talk to the Delta County Historical Society he illustrated with slides the highlights of iron mining history over a period of more than 100 years, beginning with the discovery of iron ore near Negaunee in 1844.

"That is one of the most valuable records I have ever seen," said Dave Coon of Escanaba, Historical Society member, as scene after scene of early-day iron mining flashed in projection upon the screen.

Brotherton has collected his pictures from many sources. Included are a number of early drawings and photographs that help tell the story of the men who made iron mining history.

INDIAN FAILURE — The Indians who once inhabited the Upper Peninsula iron and copper regions gained not one penny for the vast deposits of ore they sold to the U. S. government.

In this they were unlike the Cherokees of Oklahoma, who were given "worthless" land for reservation—and received fortunes when oil was discovered there later.

Brotherton reports of an unsuccessful attempt by the Indians to claim the iron wealth of the Marquette range in the 1880's.

Chief Marji Gesicks in 1845 directed the whites to a "mountain of iron" near Teal Lake. Only the Indians lived there and the chief claimed the land for Indian hunting grounds.

A certificate of agreement was drawn up under which the chief was awarded 12 undivided thirty-one hundredths of the interest of the mining association on that location. This was in 1846.

The first corporation was succeeded in 1848 by the Jackson Iron Company and it refused to recognize the claim of Chief Marji Gesicks, who died in 1862. After his death the certificate of agreement came into possession of Jeremy Compo, who brought suit against the Jackson Company to enforce the claim.

Circuit Court decided against Compo and on appeal the Michigan Supreme Court dismissed the bill to establish title, holding in part that the claim was barred by lapse of time.

Marji Gesicks, his pipe and his pledge, were more enduring than the white man's certificate of agreement—but not more lasting than the rich iron range which to this day continues to turn out millions of tons of ore annually.

THE BOOMING YEARS — Out of the ground through the years came increasing quantities of ore and away from Teal Lake hunting grounds moved the Indians.

There were boom days across the nation. Iron and steel were in demand. Ore docks were built at Marquette and Escanaba—and Gladstone. The Gladstone project continued for many years and then ended. A charcoal iron smelter was also located there at one time.

Wood-burning locomotives hauled trainloads of ore from Negaunee to Escanaba, halting at fuel stations along the way. These wooding stations included Swanzy, Centerville (later Lathrop), Shake Town (later Trombley), and Days River, which later became Brampton.

AS OF TODAY—Now diesel locomotives are replacing steam, the mines are being deepened and extended, experimental work is being done with low-grade ore, giant ships replace the oil sailing schooners, and Fayette and other charcoal iron furnaces are a thing of the past.

No longer do ore trimmers, red with ore dust, descend into the belly of the boat with plumb bob and measuring tape. Modern methods have changed all that.

Only in the record of Brotherton's pictures and notes is the story of the progress in iron mining, in transportation and smelting, told to revive an exciting chapter in the history of iron.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

ADVERSE OR AVERSE

A question that often arises is whether to use "adverse" or "averse" in such a sentence as, "I do not think he would be (adverse, averse) to dealing with a responsible firm."

The two words are, unfortunately, very similar, but let's see if we can straighten them out.

The root of each is from the Latin "verto," turn. We see the same form in the words "diverse," turned apart or in different directions; "reverse," turned backwards or in the opposite direction; "converse," turned about. So the first difference between "adverse" and "averse" must be sought in the prefixes.

"Adverse" (ad-VURS or AD-vurs) uses the Latin prefix "ad," to, toward. This gives us "turned to or toward," that is, facing or confronting. An "adversary" (AD-vur-SAIR-i) is a foe or opponent who confronts us, an "adversity" (ad-VUR-si-ti) is a hardship or something unpleasant that must be faced. Consequently, "adverse" carries the notion of hostility, of something that we look upon as harmful or injurious, or at least as unfavorable to the interests of that which is opposed. Adverse criticism of a singer is unfavorable. Adverse winds oppose an airplane in flight. Tides are adverse to a swimmer. Stormy weather is adverse to a trip.

The original prefix of "averse" (uh-VURS) was the Latin preposition "ab," in which the "b" was absorbed by the following "v." The preposition meant away, from, off. Consequently, "averse" means turned away from. It carries no notion of hostility, however, just a mental attitude of dislike, reluctance, or unwillingness. One may be averse to fish, or feel averse to a cruel action, or, as in the example with which we started, one might not be "averse to dealing with a responsible firm."

More and more women are being employed in banks, according to a report. Natural tellers, huh?

The Doctor Says... Chronic Prostate Infections Seldom Can Be Cured Rapidly

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

The prostate is a small sex gland which stores the seminal fluid. The openings into it are narrow so that it makes a particularly good place for germs to grow. Infections of this gland are usually divided into acute and chronic varieties.

Acute prostatitis is often, but by no means always, caused by a germe called the gonococcus which is the cause of gonorrhea. However, many organisms can grow in this gland and mixtures of germs are frequent. Germs can invade the prostate along the urinary passageways or can be carried there by the blood stream.

The symptoms of acute infection of the prostate may be mild or severe. The most common ones at the beginning are disturbances of urination, such as burning, frequency, and dribbling. Pain or a feeling of fullness may or may not be present.

During the acute stage absolute rest in bed and avoidance of strain, is necessary. The application of heat, alkalinizing the urine and drinking fluids freely also may be desirable.

In the past this was about all which could be done at first, but now medicines, like the sulfas and penicillin, have been found valuable in many cases.

Chronic inflammation of the prostate is an extremely common condition and like the acute variety, is sometimes, but by no means always, caused by the gonococcus. Chronic prostatitis is likely to become less common in the future as it often follows acute infection, which can now be treated with better chances of complete cure.

Chronic prostatitis often produces few if any symptoms. Some patients have only a small amount of pus. Others have urinary symptoms similar to those of the acute variety but not so severe. Local signs of prostate infection may be absent altogether, but the infection may cause difficulties elsewhere in the body such as arthritis, neuritis, muscle pains or iritis.

TREATMENT MAY BE LONG

In order to make an accurate diagnosis, the prostatic secretion has to be obtained and examined under the microscope. This will reveal the nature of the trouble and what germs are responsible.

A long-lasting chronic prostatitis is difficult to cure. Treatment includes such methods as promoting drainage, prostatic massage, heat applications and sometimes vaccines or treatment with drugs. Whatever treatment is followed, however, it may take a long time and be most discouraging. It is well, therefore, for someone with chronic prostatitis not to expect a rapid cure.

Wayne Geology Students Study Michigan Copper

Dr. Willard H. Parsons of Wayne University shows two of his geology students Joseph Komblevich of Iron River (left) and Mike Brady of Grayling a specimen of crystallized copper from Michigan's famous "Copper Country."

Copper—a dangerously scarce metal vital to defense production in the United States today—occurs in Michigan as free or native metal in the rock and is by far the most important copper deposit of this type on earth.

Michigan's Upper Peninsula, also known as the "Copper Country" around the State, is America's oldest copper district.

Geology students at Wayne University in Detroit have been studying these recent developments in the nation's copper supply and have come up with many interesting facts.

Located in Michigan are rich veins of copper which are believed to have been the world's purest, Dr. Willard H. Parsons, chairman of the geology department at Wayne, explained.

Michigan's copper country is a rugged, hilly, wooded region. Stretching about 100 miles along Lake Superior, it extends north-east from the Porcupine Mountains in Ontonagon County out along the Keweenaw Peninsula. The important copper shipping ports are the twin cities of Houghton and Hancock.

According to Dr. Parsons, nobody knows who the earliest copper miners of Michigan were, but from the relics of tools and weapons found in the woods, archaeologists set the date before Columbus' time. These prehistoric miners left over 10,000 pits on Isle Royale, the United States only island national park. A piece of mass copper weighing 5,720 pounds was found here in 1874 and exhibited at the Centennial Exposition in 1876.

The first commercial copper mining in the State was done by individual miners and prospectors in 1845. Later deep mining proved highly profitable and mining companies were formed to exploit the rich veins. Deep shafts often extending to vertical depths of one mile were sunk. The Quincy Mine shaft, located near Hancock is over 9,500 feet. One of the deepest mines in the world, it can still produce plenty of copper.

For 40 years the industry flourished. It was then affected by the rise of copper mining in some western states and in Africa. The low mining costs and valuable by-products of these new mines set up economic barriers against Michigan's output.

Now with the help of the government, and with newly developed methods of prospecting and mining, the area may again come to life. There are many who believe its future lies in the numerous unexplored regions. One government loan will be used to reopen the White Pine Mine in Ontonagon County. Government officials have called the White Pine ore body the largest undeveloped but discovered copper reserve in America.

The largest airfield in Africa is the new British installation at Entebbe, Uganda, with runways 2 miles long capable of handling jet planes.

Court Opens; Schedule Made

In the opening session of the May term Delta County Circuit Court here this morning, Judge Glenn W. Jackson reviewed the calendar and scheduled for trial 10 civil cases which were ready or would be ready to be presented during the term.

He also scheduled for hearing five chancery cases upon notification of attorneys that the suits were ready to be heard.

The jury civil cases expected to be tried in this term of court are Lena Farley vs. Montgomery Ward; Frances A. Foster vs. Arthur and Esther Nickols; Frank Kopsic vs. Gunnar Peterson and Kathryn Ann Kopsic, by Frank Kopsic, her guardian, vs. Gunnar Peterson (the cases to be tried together); and Jessie Gray vs. C. G. Bridges.

Non-jury civil cases ready for trial include Physicians & Hospital Supply Company vs. Jesse Lillibridge (Cradle Home); Peter Silbernagel vs. Joseph Larmay; Gerald Depuydt vs. Fred Drossart; The Linen Thread Company vs. John Breed; and Ella Fillmore vs. James Gustafson et al.

Arraignment of defendants in criminal cases was anticipated for this afternoon's session.

The jury will report Wednesday at 9 a. m. when selection will be made of the panel which will try the first case.

Carpenters Picket Building Projects In Detroit Region

DETROIT — (P) — A strike of 15,000 AFL carpenters threatened today to stop all work on millions of dollars in construction in four counties.

Defense plants and both public and private construction were affected. Home building was included.

The carpenters put 1,000 pickets at work sites in the Detroit metropolitan area in a dispute with contractors over wages.

Men of the building trades said this could lead to idleness of 15,000 other Allied AFL artisans and possibly up to 400,000 additional workers.

However, negotiations resume tomorrow and there was hope that a complete tieup could be avoided.

Extent of the stoppage depended partly on whether CIO men would respect the AFL picket lines.

Affected were the counties of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair.

MANISTIQUE NEWS

Suspension Order Issued

An order suspending G. S. Johnson, local attorney, from the practice of law for two years was filed May 9 with G. Leslie Bouschor, Schoolcraft county clerk.

The suspension order is effective on the date of its filing with the clerk.

The order was signed by Circuit Judges Howard L. Campbell, of Cadillac, Thomas J. Landers, of Bessemer, and Donald E. Holbrook, of Clare, who presided at a special session of Schoolcraft County Circuit Court here on March 25 when an order to show cause in the suspension proceedings was heard.

The order signed by the three circuit judges also directed Johnson to reimburse the State Bar of Michigan in the amount of $873.40 to cover actual and necessary expenses incurred in the disciplinary move.

Action by a grievance committee of the state bar against the Manistique attorney was based on his alleged unethical conduct as administrator of the Nels Johnson estate over a period of years. On Jan. 3, 1952, the Circuit Court entered an order directing Johnson to show cause why a finding of fact by the grievance committee should not be confirmed and a disciplinary order based upon such finding of fact should not be issued.

Circuit Judges Holbrook, Landers and Campbell were appointed to hear the suspension proceedings by Joseph A. Moynihan, of Detroit, presiding circuit judge of Michigan.

Arguments In Steel Seizure Open Today Before High Court

Davis served as President Wilson's solicitor general from 1913 to 1918, declined an appointment to the Supreme Court by President Harding and ran unsuccessfully for President as the Democratic candidate against Calvin Coolidge in 1924.

The steel companies' brief contends the government was attempting to impose compulsory arbitration, was trying to settle a labor dispute by "executive fiat" and was bypassing the Taft-Hartley Act, which the brief said Congress intended for deadlocked labor disputes.

The Justice Department argued the President in seizing the mills acted to meet an emergency through powers set forth in the Constitution. The department's brief called this "a grant of all the executive powers of which the government is capable."

"It has never been supposed that the limits of the President's duties are marked by the literal terms of statutes," the justice department declared.

The steel union, as an interested party in the dispute, filed a brief calling its wages talks with the industry a sham. It said the real fight is over how much of a price increase the government would grant the industry to offset higher pay for the 650,000 CIO Steelworkers.

Price Raise Limited

The President seized the mills when the union threatened to strike over the owners' refusal to accept a Wage Stabilization Board recommendation for a 26 cent an hour package wage boost. Among side provisions, the recommendation called for a union shop under which all workers would have to belong to the union. Steelworkers now receive slightly under $2 an hour.

The owners contended the WSC proposals would raise production costs as much as $12 a ton and the government would allow only a $3 a ton price increase.

Price administrator Ellis Arnall repeated last night that $3 is all the steel companies are entitled to under the Capehart amendment. This provision permits price rises to compensate for added costs between the start of the Korean War and last July 26.

Set Meeting For Holstein Breeders

The Holstein breeders of Delta, Dickinson and Menominee counties will hold a twilight meeting at the Menominee county infirmary tomorrow, May 13, at 8:15 p. m.

Guest speaker will be Charles Brace, fieldman for the Holstein Friesian Association, who will show a motion picture produced by the National Holstein Association. He will devote some of his lecture to a study of the herd classification at the infirmary.

All Holstein breeders are invited to attend, regardless of whether they are members of the Association. The infirmary is located a few miles beyond Powers on US-2.

Wasps sometimes damage fruit, but they also destroy large numbers of caterpillars and other harmful insects.

Importance Of Hobby For Aged Outlined To Escanaba Kiwanians

Old age will be more enjoyable if people have a hobby to turn to after retirement, Dr. F. C. Anderson told Escanaba Kiwanis club members today in a talk on geriatrics at the regular weekly meeting of the club. Dr. Anderson urged his listeners to start thinking now about choosing a hobby or hobbies suitable and enjoyable for the declining years of life.

"We have added years to life," he said, "now let us add life to years."

Many men retiring today have work hard supporting families, and haven't really taken time out to live, the speaker declared.

"We all over-estimate our importance," the doctor said, "but in reality no one is too important, and the world can go on very well without them."

"So it is up to us now to start thinking about those years beyond 65. Choosing an all-year hobby which will provide interest, relaxation and achievement is one important step in preparing to enjoy old age."

Failure to have another interest in life after retiring from steady employment has often resulted in having aging men turn to alcoholism, Dr. Anderson said. A hobby, he said, would fill in this idle time after retirement when time hangs heavily on the hands of an aging person.

Lynn Bergman Wins MSC Scholarship

Lynn Bergman, of Escanaba, has been awarded a four-year tuition scholarship to Michigan State College by the Delta-Menominee M. S. C. Alumni club, according to James Kennedy, of Escanaba, club president.

The scholarships are awarded on the basis of scholastic standing and all-around leadership qualities displayed in high school. All recipients of the awards were in the upper third of their high school graduating classes.

Award winners will begin their work at Michigan State this fall.

Gunfire Breaks Up Riot At Essen In Red Cold War

These sources anticipated that the East German government may soon demand the unification of divided Berlin and withdrawal of all occupation forces from the metropolis. This, the sources added, may be accompanied by "drastic measures" against West Berlin.

The predicted also that East Germany soon may be declared a "People's Democracy" like other Soviet satellites and that its government may be shaken up to weed out anyone not in accord with the full Sovietization of the East zone.

Sources close to the Politburo of the East zone's ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) party said its inclusion in the Russian-led Cominform probably will be announced at a party conference in July.

Patrol Ban Continues

They added, however, that the Russians have not decided whether they will offer East Germany a Moscow-made peace contract to match the pact the West has been negotiating with Adenauer.

So far, the only new concrete Russian action against the west was the continuance of a ban against Allied military patrols from Berlin on the Berlin-Helmstedt express highway, the only authorized Allied highway between Berlin and the west.

Allied officials generally regarded the stoppage, which began Thursday night, as not serious and expected it to be lifted this week. Other motor traffic on the highway was normal and patrols from the Helmstedt end of the run were permitted to operate as usual. The patrols help stranded motorists and keep drivers from straying off the prescribed route.

By RICHARD FISKE

NEW YORK — (P) — The Stock Market made little headway today. Prices were a pretty even mixture of gains and losses. Trading was very quiet.

Arguments in protest of government seizure were scheduled in Supreme Court and businessmen generally were anxious for the decision.

Hopes of a settlement of the oil strike were a little brighter. Some of the smaller companies have signed and one of the major operators—Standard Oil California—has reached an agreement.

In the market, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic were down fractions. Among the oils, Standard Oil (N. J.) was up a bit.

The advances included Goodrich Rubber, Caterpillar, Dome Mining, American Cyanamid, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Johns-Manville.

Among the declines were Chrysler, Boeing Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott, Du Pont, Amerasia, Baltimore and Ohio, Eastern Air Lines and U. S. Gypsum.

The curb market was mixed with most price changes in fractions. Trading was quiet.

The advances included Hazeltine, Imperial Oil and Liberty Biscuits. Among the declines were Canadian Southern Oils, St. Lawrence Corp., and U. S. Radiator.

On the bond market corporate prices were a fairly even scramble of advances and declines with price changes narrow and activity light. U. S. governments were steady in over-the-counter dealings.

Plan For Middle Years While You Are Still Young

Editor's Note—This is the first of six articles by a noted woman medical advisor who shows women the sound and sensible approach to middle age. An authority on psychosomatic medicine, Dr. Adele Streeseaman has practiced industrial medicine, served as a psychiatric consultant, and for 15 years has been medical adviser to the Women's Prison Association of New York City. She is a Fellow of the American Psychosomatic Society and the author of the book, "You're Human, Too," published last year by Coward-McCann.

ADELE E. STREESEMAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

There is a current advertising campaign which features the picture of a famous movie star and, beneath, a line that runs something like this: "Will you look as young as Gloria Swanson at 53?"

It's a spring-board for thought. But that's only one-tenth of it. Actually, the question that Dr. Streeseaman every woman who's now in her twenties or her thirties or even her early forties should put to herself is: "What kind of person will I be when I'm middle aged? Emotionally, physically, financially—just what will I be like?"

The first step in building a life that's sound emotionally and otherwise in middle age is to start while you're young. It's like saving up for a rainy day. You must have something in the bank, emotionally, to see you through. This means planning ahead, many years before your children leave home, before your looks change or go.

Did Not Plan
Look about you. Look at the discontented, unhappy faces of many women who are middle-aged today. Note the deep lines of self-pity, the worried looks. These are the women—so many of them—who did not plan ahead, who did not save for the rainy day of middle age.

As a psychiatrist, my daily working life is made up of trying to help such women. As they pass through my office, they unfold haunting stories of wasted youthful years. Now, they have reached an important turning point in their lives and they are unprepared. They don't know how to readjust to it. They are suffering from a kind of trauma. Some of them have husbands who are straying. Others have worries over financial insecurity, or dread of being physically unattractive or fear of the "change of life."

Altogether, their stories make up a great parade of woe. And it's a parade that the woman who is young now need never join—if she will plan ahead.

Worship of Youth
Perhaps the greatest single difficulty women have to overcome in approaching middle age is this nation's immature worship of youth. Leaf through a magazine. It's filled with ads telling women how to stay young-looking, how to choose clothes that aid in regaining a youthful appearance.

St. Joseph Club Final Meeting Of Year Wednesday

St. Joseph's Home and School Association will hold its final meeting of the school year Wednesday, May 14, at 8 p. m., in St. Joseph's club rooms.

It is important that fathers as well as mothers attend as records prepared by the Christophers on ex instruction for children will be presented.

A short business session will be held and officers for the coming year will be installed. Refreshments will be served during the social hour.

how to retain a youthful energy and glow.

A woman who looks and dresses youthfully in middle age is bound to remain attractive to men, these ads imply. Thus, she's in no danger of losing her husband.

Is this true? Divorce courts give evidence to the contrary. Through them passes the daily parade of slim and youthful-looking middle-aged women whose husbands are shedding them for one reason or another.

It's beyond dispute that to be slim in middle age is healthy and that to be attractive is a great aid to one's morale. But the solution to all problems does not lie in physical appearance. There's much more to it than that.

AS WE LIVE

Don't Make An Issue Of Mother-In-Law's Visits

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

(Q) "This is my second marriage of two years' duration. Before I married I told my husband-to-be I wanted to live alone with him and my son by my former marriage. He agreed to this. He has a widowed mother and brother who live together. The brother has a job that takes him out of town now and then. The other day, my husband informed me that his mother would come to stay with us when his brother was out of town. Don't you think he should have discussed this matter with me first? I like his mother but I don't like this arrangement. His mother is a person of means and, under the circumstances, I can't see that this is necessary. Plenty of mothers stay alone at night and make no issue of it. I might add that my husband is completely under his mother's influence."

(A) It would have been fairer to you if your husband had discussed this matter with you before making arrangements. But, as he did not, you will be wise not to make an issue of it.

Tell him, however, that you do not want these visits to lead to a permanent living arrangement, should the brother decide to marry and go to a home of his own. Remind him of his promise about this. Then be agreeable and gracious.

It is never wise for an older person to stay alone in a house, especially at night. In case of illness or accident, she would be completely helpless. I can readily understand how your husband feels about this matter. If it gives him peace of mind to know that his mother is well taken care of, that should be ample reward for the trouble or inconvenience her visits cause.

Surely you must have known, before you married him, that he was "completely under his mother's influence." Such things do not develop overnight nor can they be hidden from outsiders. And, knowing that she was a widow, it must have been inevitable that this would eventually happen. It should not be a shock or even a surprise.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

Miss Lundeen Is The Bride Of Emer R. Peterson

Miss Donna Jane Lundeen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lundeen, 811 19th St., became the bride of Emer Richard Peterson, Escanaba Route 1, in a double ring candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. John Anderson at the Ev. Covenant Church Saturday, May 10 at 4 p. m. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Keubler.

Mrs. Arthur Carlson, soloist, sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us" before the service and "Because" as the couple met at the altar. Miss Leona Anderson played the traditional bridal processional and recessional and accompanied the soloist.

Candelabra holding cathedral tapers were at either side of the altar which was adorned with yellow and white snapdragons and daffodils. Flowers marked the pews reserved for the families and relatives of the bridal couple. The tapers were lighted before the ceremony by Mary Ellen Lundeen, a sister of the bride and Georgianna Nordquist, a cousin of the bridegroom, ushers. They were attired in identical floor length gowns of Nile green with nylon lace trim and wore white snapdragons and ribbons in their hair.

Bride In Ivory Satin
The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage, wore a gown of ivory satin, made by her mother. The bodice with its tiny button back closing had a Chantilly lace yoke and scalloped effect. The sleeves were long, forming a point over the wrist fastened by tiny buttons, and the full hoop skirt repeated the scallop design. The bride's fingertip illusion veil was caught to a heart shaped bonnet of lace and pearls. She wore a pearl necklace as her only jewelry and she carried a white Bible on the cover of which was an orchid with flower-knotted satin ribbon markers.

Miss Mary Ann Ottensman, as maid of honor, wore orchid marquisette with a stand-up collar of lace and lace inserts in the bodice and skirt. Her headdress of flowers and veiling was the same shade. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white flowers. Leslie Schreier, a cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. The bride's mother chose a navy suit with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses for the wedding. The bridegroom's mother also was in navy and her corsage was of like flowers.

Reception In Church Parlors
The reception for 100 guests was held in the church parlors.

Political Fad Annoys Ruark

By ROBERT C. RUARK

HOUSTON, Texas—One of the things the politicians had better realize in a hurry is that this is no ordinary election year nor is it an election year remotely comparable to any other that I can recall.

Politics suddenly have become very fashionable, especially among the ladies out this way, and if Texas is any mirror of the land, there will be a record vote this fall to surpass all record votes.

You know, of course, that we are very style-conscious in America, and if you set a cute little old trend everybody leaps after it. You know about fads and fashions, about yo-yos and handies and the music goes down and round. This year it is politics.

Madame is considered unchic unless she is so politically aware that you can't stand it much longer. I am so sick of making party talk out of Bob Taft and Dwight David Eisenhower and Brother Kefauver that I hope they all lose. My new answer for "what do you think about the Presidential prospect?" is simply "nothing."

Popular As Canasta
In the precinct conventions in Texas there has been pandemonium. These things have been going on for years, and if five professional politicians showed up it was regarded as successful. Now they are attended by the thousands and people push people down hills, and the ladies scratch and bite, and brother assaults brother. An Eisenhower button can buy you a belt in the eye from your best friend if he is still holding out for Mr. Taft or Mr. Kefauver or the beamish boy, Dick Russell.

I always thought that most people were bored by politics, but it's suddenly caught on like canasta.

Dames who don't know a caucus from a referendum corner you at the cocktail riots and beat you over the head with expert opinion.

I am much afraid of this distaff intoness on the political scene. Just as sure as you are sitting there, they will take it away from us soon, and every potential housewife will be a Clare Boothe Luce or a Margaret Smith. You will mutter tender talk into the ear of your beloved and she will answer with: "yeah, that's all very fine, but where do you stand on the FEPC?"

The Ladies Elect

The female influence on the coming elections is sure to be felt in the male vote, because you know how mama is when she sets her head to something. I don't know who will make it this fall, but I know this: The dames will elect him, they will prod Papa to go out to those polls and do what Mama says to do, or there will be no living with Mama for a long spell. This paints a rather fresh complexion on the whole political picture.

The ladies being what they are, I do not even wish to contemplate what it will need to elect a man or woman to office in the future. Maybe they will go for the hair, or lack of it, on the candidate's head. Maybe Ike's cuteness will get him in, or a belated mother complex will make capital of Mr. Taft's baby face. On that premise Herbert Hoover would be a cinch today.

Madame President

We are dead sure, eventually, to be voting for a female candidate for the leadership of the land, and I can't expect that one, either. For this is for sure: no pretty woman will ever be elected. The catty ones would scratch out her personality and her eyes when it came up ballot time.

On the plane the other day I had some talk with the stewardess, a very handsome creature, indeed. When I got off she said: "I'll see you in Chicago this summer."

"That's nice," Sezz. "How come?"

"I am one of the Republican delegates to the convention," said she.

That's when I knew they had us. Madame President of tomorrow, I salute you. I might as well do it now as later.

The European corn borer first was discovered in the United States near Boston 41 years ago. Since that time, it has slowly chewed its way westward and is still spreading. It wormed its way into 17 previously unattacked counties in seven states during 1950.

With Rannel Lost 25 Lbs.

"Rannel helps to curb my appetite and so I can eat all I want and still lose weight," writes Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, R. No. 1, Martin, Mich. "I needed to reduce but I also knew that I couldn't stand a strict diet. Using Rannel Concentrate I lost 25 pounds and feel so much better. For me Rannel is a wonderful product since it brings my appetite down and keeps me regular."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain liquid Rannel at your druggist, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If you do not lose weight with the very first bottle just return it for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Rannel.

Anti-Crime Parade Is Held In Tokyo

TOKYO—(AP)—Some Japanese police have adopted the historical pageant as a method of curbing crime.

In Tokyo recently, officers discarded their uniforms for the costumes of famous judges and thieves in Japanese history.

They paraded down the city's main streets, followed by a police loudspeaker car exhorting the populace to lock their doors and take other preventative action against crime.

Blond Settles Spat With Boy Friend And Quits Marines

TOLEDO, O.—(AP)—Toledo police arrested Pvt. Doris Reffitt, 23, blond and pretty, on a charge of deserting the Marine Corps.

"I didn't have any trouble quitting my job to join the Marines," she told police, "and I don't see why everybody is making such a fuss because I quit the Marines."

She'd joined the Marines after a spat with her boy friend, she explained to Police Sgt. Margaret Slater. On St. Patrick's Day she and her boy friend made up, she said, so she just decided to go back to him.

Police held her on a warrant charging desertion from the Marine base at Camp LeJeune, N. C.

For a season in the sun...

and year 'round fun!

This new "Top-Downer's Delight" rides as smooth as it looks

A single pull of the top control and it's "open-season" for fun and sun with Ford's smart new Sunliner! The new Breezeway Top practically disappears from sight.

The long, low lines . . . the 110-h.p. Strato-Star V-8, the only V-8 and the most powerful engine in Ford's field . . . make this the smartest buy of all convertibles. Its lower center of gravity, wider front tread, diagonally mounted rear shock absorbers and new springing "pooh-pooh" the bumps and level-away curves automatically. It steers nearly 25% easier! In fact, everything about this new Sunliner is easier for you, from its suspended Power-Pivot Pedals to its easier, safer Double-Seal Brakes.

Breezeway Top up—
it's a weather-tight beauty

Come rain, come snow, the Breezeway Top moves swiftly into place, locks easier than ever! And Ford's modern design body with new hull-tight construction seals out water, dust and draft. You can see in all directions with the Sunliner's new curved one-piece windshield, big side windows and huge one-piece vinyl rear window. And, even with the top up, the rear window section zips out for that wide-open feeling. "Test Drive" the '52 Ford Sunliner. Find out why more people drive Ford convertibles than any other!

Army Pay Clerks Taught By 'Cheating' Sergeant

SHORT COUNT: Sgt. James J. Hurley, "con man" at Army finance school in Indianapolis, gets ready to short count a student clerk. Hurley's counting his pay out of sight of the cashier.

By NEA Service
INDIANAPOLIS (NEA)—The portly master sergeant entered the Army finance center and sauntered up to the cashier's cage. He handed the clerk on duty a $20 bill and waited for his change. When he had received and slowly counted it, he strolled calmly out of the building.

Not until hours later, when he totaled the day's receipts, did the startled cashier discover that the $20 bill was a genuine counterfeit.

In the same afternoon, the sergeant threw three other young bucks into despair by:

Cashing a forged check for $75. Palming $15 with a clever "short count" routine;

Stealing a bank sheet of government checks while the clerk had his back turned, then forging them in the name of another cashier for thousands of dollars.

But the slippery non-com, M/Sgt. James J. Hurley, didn't keep his ill-gotten gains. It wasn't that he was afraid of being caught; duping fledgling Army finance clerks is his job.

Sgt. Hurley is one of 25 instructors at the Ft. Harrison Finance Center assigned by the Army to teach its student cashiers all the tricks of cheating.

If the student isn't alert, Hurley or one of his colleagues will con him out of cash, bonds, or other negotiables at the drop of a wooden nickel.

Graduates are assigned to Army installations, embassies and consulates throughout the world. They must be prepared to handle any one of 3000 typical situations they are likely to encounter.

That's where the chicanery of the instructors comes in handy. By the time they are graduated, the students have been exposed to nearly every "con game" on record.

Another spur to rapid learning and accuracy is the fact that the Army allows no margin for error and requires its cashiers to make up any shortages out of their own pockets.

Purchase Tax Puts London Crown Jeweler Out Of Business

LONDON—(AP)—The House of Garrard—crown jewelers to Britain's Royal family for two centuries—is going out of business.

The London firm announced today it will be taken over by the ancient Goldsmiths and Silversmiths company as soon as company shareholders formally assent.

Garrard's demise on the 100 per cent purchase tax which doubles the price of jewelry, and the shrunken post-war buying power of its aristocratic customers.

Queen Elizabeth II now will have to authorize a new Royal warrant for another crown jeweler so her regalia can be readied for her coronation in June, 1953. The task is expected to include a remodeling of the Imperial State Crown to fit the young queen's head. Garrard's was founded in 1721.

The instructors have become so adroit at their cheating job that they are sometimes regarded with suspicion by their civilian neighbors.

"That's right," confirms Sgt. Hurley, calmly lifting a negotiable bond as the unsuspecting clerk on duty listens. "Outside here, people are getting so they don't trust me."

Two File For School Board

Two candidates Saturday filed their nominating petitions for election to the Manistique Board of Education.

They were Mrs. Orville Rousseau, 212 Pearl St., who filed for a three-year vacancy on the board, and John W. Moffat, 235 Range St., who filed for a full four year term.

Incumbents whose terms expire this spring are Robert Berger, full term, and Ragnar Carlson, who was appointed last fall to fill a vacancy caused by the death last October of Dr. George A. Shaw. It was announced Saturday that both incumbents would seek re-election.

The annual school election will be held Monday, June 9. Candidates have until May 20 to file nominating petitions.

Helen Jean Miller Is Bride Saturday Of Clyde F. Lynts

At a ceremony performed in the Zion Lutheran Church Saturday afternoon Miss Helen Jean Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller, 622 Park Ave., became the bride of Clyde Frederick Lynts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lynts, 135 N. 5th St. Rev. G. A. Herbert officiated at the 2 o'clock ceremony.

The altar was decorated with baskets of mixed flowers. During the service Mr. and Mrs. Gus Nyberg sang, "I Love You Truly, and A Prayer."

The bride was attired in a gown of white slipper satin with a full skirt and long train. Her fingertip veil fell from a head band of seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and roses.

Her sister, Miss Marcella Miller, was maid of honor and Miss Karen Jewett was bridesmaid. They both wore gowns styled similar to that of the bride but of different color, being pink and aqua respectively. They carried bouquets of carnations.

Oscar Froberg, cousin of the bride, and Bill Wood, cousin of the groom, served as best men.

Bill Bellore and John Paul Quick seated the guests.

Mrs. Miller attended her daughter's wedding in a blue street length dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Lynts, the groom's mother, also wore a blue street length dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors. The couple left later for a wedding trip to Detroit and Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will make their home at the Crowe apartments, Lake St.

The bride is attending Manistique high school. The groom attended the local high school and at present is employed by Inland.

Out-of-town guests attending were from Escanaba, Munising, St. Ignace and Brevort.

Attitude Of Mind Is Nation's Worst Foe, Essay Writer States

Complacency, indifference, indolence, ignorance and fear—these are the real enemies of American democracy, according to Miss Elizabeth Ann McGlothlin in her local prize-winning essay, "Preserving American Democracy."

Miss McGlothlin's essay recently won first honors in a contest conducted in Manistique high school by the Inland Lime and Stone Company. Essay subject matter was based on a series of flip charts and motion pictures presented to high school students last winter through the auspices of the Inland firm.

The high school author contends in her theme that the greatest counter-blow Americans can strike against Communism is to make democracy work. Her essay follows:

Thousands die in prison camps! Purge of anti-Communists revealed! These headlines about Russia are common reading today. Would you like to see them repeated—about America?

Must Understand Problems

Perhaps the results would not be as terrible as those mentioned above, but unless there is a definite change in our American attitude, we may find ourselves rapidly becoming a state such as Russia is now.

Our problems today which are threatening democracy are not superficial ones; they are deeply-rooted evils. If we continue to ignore and make excuses for them, they will grow worse. To combat these problems, however, we must first understand just what they are.

An attitude of complacency about our country and its freedom is one of the greatest dangers in America today. The idea that everything in America is perfect and needs no changing is untrue. Self-satisfaction is a dangerous attitude in any country.

All too frequently in America are the twin "Is", indifference and indolence. The ideas of not caring and laziness are ones which are gradually creeping up on us. A typical statement today is, "What's the use? I can't do anything. I'll let someone else do it." When this kind of inertia overcomes a country, it is easy for any active group to take over. Do we want this in America?

Know Your Government

Another foe of democracy is ignorance. Too many Americans know too little about their own government, and much less about world affairs. How can we expect to oppose Communism when we know nothing about the advantages of our own government? We cannot hope for a well-run country when our citizens don't know, and seemingly care less, about how a government should be run.

Fear is another danger confronting Americans today. A few citizens have made an effort to do something about the corruption in our local and state governments and have been repaid by gangsters for their efforts. A Chicagoan who tried to clean up government in his city is still in a hospital with most of his body in a cast. A Republican ward leader in the same city was shot to death not long ago. When the average citizen cannot attempt to do his duty without fear of physical harm, there is something wrong.

What We Must Do

You may wonder what these problems have to do with preserving American democracy. I have written about them because these are the things which are tearing American democracy apart. If we do not recognize these problems for what they are and try to solve them, we will lose our precious freedom and democracy. What, then, can we do to preserve American democracy?

First, Americans must realize that freedom can be lost much more easily than it is won, and that in this respect we are no different from any other people. An awareness of our problems and a sincere attempt to evaluate and correct them are needed in America. A new sense of duty must be aroused in our people. The "pass-the-buck" attitude is not one which will keep America free. We all need to realize that democracy is an individual thing it can be only as good as the people who work for it.

Knowledge Essential

Americans need to be educated about public office and the workings of the government. If we understand what is to be done, we can help. Knowledge of foreign affairs is valuable to Americans also, because it is almost impossible to be an isolationist in today's world. We need cooperation between the people in our country. We need a new and deep appreciation of the wonderful privileges, freedom, and prosperity which we now take for granted. We need protection for our citizens so that everyone can feel free to work for a better government.

Most of all, I think, we need to grow up spiritually and morally. Our problems are not caused by outside influences; they are brought about by our own thoughts and motivations. If we are basically honest, truthful, and conscientious in our daily lives, in the small things, then we can expect our country to be a good democracy. Only by preserving and practicing our Christian ideals, can we hope to preserve our country.

Our problems are many and serious, but they can be solved. If each of us cares enough to work for a better country, we will have a better America. Do we want a democracy? Of course we do. Then—it's up to us to preserve it.

Scout Cookie Sale Underway

The annual Girl Scout cookie sale is now underway, it is reported by the cookie sale committee, Mrs. C. S. Johnson, Mrs. Carl Olson and Mrs. E. H. LeBrasseur.

Cookie sale order books were distributed Friday afternoon at all local schools simultaneously so that Brownies and Girl Scouts would have an equal chance in competing for various prizes.

Three prizes are being offered to girls who secure the most orders: First, $3; second, $2; and third, $1. The troop securing the greatest number of sales also will be treated to an evening at one of the Manistique theaters through the courtesy of J. L. LeDuc, theater owner.

Canvassing for cookie orders will continue for a week. On Monday, May 19, troop leaders will obtain cookies at the home of Mrs. Johnson, Gero Ave., during the day or early evening for distribution to their patrons.

Proceeds of the sale will be diverted to a camping fund this year, it is announced. The fund will be used to help send Girl Scouts to Camp Timber Trail or to the annual day camp.

Seven members of the current faculty will not return here next fall. Among them are Charlotte Thiel, Lois Borns, Frank Mead, Kurt Thiel, Mary Ellen Hoffmann, Beverly Burt and Mary Rae Connor.

Engaged are Geraldine Saladis, Superior, Wis., a graduate of State Teachers College, Superior, who majored in English and has minors in speech and history. She will teach English.

Carmen Ann Swanson, Norway, Mich., who is to take Miss Born's place. Miss Swanson is a graduate of Hermansville High School and Northern Michigan College of Education.

Joanne VanBuskirk, Superior, Wis., a graduate of Wisconsin State Teachers College, Superior, where she majored in languages: Spanish and French and in English. She will teach Spanish here next fall.

Maxine MacDonald, Antigo, Wis., a graduate of Wisconsin State Teachers College at LaCrosse, Wis., where she majored in Physical Education and had minors in Speech and English. She will handle girls' physical education in the high school.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother and sister, Mrs. Mary Huff, who passed away 10 years ago today, May 12, 1942.

We seem to see in the soft dim light,
A face we loved the best;
And think of her when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far off west.
We miss you no less as the time passes on,
Than we did on the day of your going.
For absence can never close the door of our hearts,
And the lamp of our love is still glowing.
Your heart was the truest in all the wide world;
Your love the best to recall;
For no one on earth could take your place.
You are still the dearest of all.
Sadly missed by her sons and daughters and brothers and sisters.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Nick Berish, who passed away 5 years ago today, May 12, 1947.

Life does not seem the same. Since you were called away. The blow was hard, the shock severe. Our hearts still ache with pain. Our eyes shed many a tear. God only knows how we miss you at the end of these sad years. Time cannot heal our aching hearts. Nor from our memory tear. The form and face we loved so well. Will dwell forever there. No one knows the heartaches. Only those who lost can tell. Of the grief that is borne in silence. For the one we loved so well. You are not forgotten, Mother, Dear. Nor will you ever be. While life and memory last We will remember you. In our home is a vacant place. And we often speak of you. And how happy we would be. If you were with us, too. Sadly missed by her HUSBAND AND CHILDREN. 5670-133-11.

Marines Grab First Place In Triangular Track Meet

A powerful Marinette track squad swept to easy victory over Escanaba and Menominee in a triangular track and field meet here Saturday afternoon.

Scoring 10 first and sweeping the shot put event, the Marines piled up 79½ points for first place. Menominee placed second with 35½ and the host Eskymos were third with 22½.

The Eskymos salvaged a pair of firsts in the meet. Miller Dick Casey outdistanced the field to post his second straight victory by a wide margin. His time was 4:57.8.

John Connelly staged a stirring sprint to cop the 880-yard run, nipping Marinette's Hans Thomsen in the stretch to win in 2:15.3. Connelly bettered his previous half mile time by nearly three full seconds.

High point producer in the meet was Eugene Mudrak of Marinette who had firsts in the broad jump and the pole vault, second in the shot put and third in the high hurdles.

Other Eskymos who garnered points were Dave Gasman, tied for fourth in the high jump; Tom Bourke, third in the 100 and 200 yard dashes; Harland Yelland, third in the 440; Don Swanson, fourth in the 220, and Pat McDonough, fourth in the 100-yard dash and the pole vault.

Illinois Pacing Big Ten Baseball Teams

CHICAGO—(P)—Illinois, breaking on top in the Big Ten baseball pennant chase with a five-game victory streak, will head up this week's 15-game conference card with a three-game series at Ohio State.

The Illini meet the defending champions, now in sixth place with a 4-4 mark, in a single game Friday and a doubleheader Saturday.

Wisconsin and Michigan, locked in second place one game behind Illinois, also have games with second-division clubs. The Badgers play a single game Friday with fourth-place Minnesota at Minneapolis and a Saturday doubleheader with ninth-place Iowa at Iowa City.

Twin Bill
Michigan is host to tailend Indiana Friday and to Purdue, tied with Northwestern for seventh, in a twin bill the next day.

Illinois defeated Northwestern 2-1 and 3-2 Saturday. In the extra inning nightcap Jerry Miller singled, stole second and scored the winning run on a two-base error.

Wisconsin and Ohio State split. The Buckeyes won the first 25-12 with a 20-hit assault and the help of 10 walks. They punched nine runs in the first inning. Wisconsin rebounded for a 9-7 victory, collecting seven runs in the opening frame.

Paul Giel, Minnesota sophomore, fanned 16 batsmen and walked only one during a five-hit job that blanked Indiana 2-0. Giel, registered ting his third triumph, helped his own cause with three singles. Minnesota also won the second, 6-2.

Two-Hitter
Michigan walloped Michigan State 10-2 but lost the second 4-0 as Tom Lawson held the Wolverines to two hits to hand freshman Marv Wisniewski his first setback. Wisniewski got the only two hits off Lawson.

Purdue swept a doubleheader from Iowa, 3-2 and 4-1, as Dennis Blind and Ray Rosenbaum pitched five-hitters for the Boilermakers.

The rest of this week's schedule: Today—Notre Dame at Wisconsin (night); tomorrow—Illinois Normal at Illinois, Indiana at Butler, Northwestern at Great Lakes, Carleton at Minnesota, Notre Dame at Wisconsin, Purdue at Illinois Wesleyan, Michigan at Detroit.

Wednesday—Lake Forest at Northwestern; Friday—Northwestern at Iowa, Purdue at Michigan State; Saturday doubleheaders—Indiana at Michigan State, Northwestern at Minnesota.

What Became Of Lively Ball? Hitters Moaning

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

What happened to the lively ball? Like the dodo bird, it appears to have become extinct. Remember when those pitchers were wailing about too much jackrabbit in the ball? That was only two years ago. Now the hitters are doing the moaning and groaning. And with good reason.

Bob Lemoine

Just look at these figures of futility on the part of the batters:

The major league season is less than a month old and already 28 shutouts have been pitched. American League hurlers, who have turned in 17 whitewashing jobs, have spun seven 1-0 games to equal their full-season total of 1951.

Two-Hitters

Bob Lemoine of Cleveland and Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees pitched brilliant 1-0, two-hit victories yesterday. That boosted the total of low-hit games this year to 35. Recently, Bob Feller of Cleveland, Bob Cain of the St. Louis Browns and Art Houtteman of Detroit, hurled one-hitters.

Only four home runs were hit yesterday. That raised the two leagues' total to 217, exactly 70 fewer than the 287 hit last year at a corresponding date.

Lemoine's two-hit victory was followed by Mike Garcia's eighth-hit, 3-1 triumph. It enabled the Indians to sweep a doubleheader from the Browns and increase their American league lead to two games over the runner-up Washington Senators.

Lemoine was extended to the limit as Ned Garver, Brownie ace, yielded only four hits himself. Three of them came in the last half of the ninth to furnish the only run. Dale Mitchell's two-out single with the bases loaded broke up the mound duel.

Sensors Win

The Indians collected only five hits off loser Cain and two relievers in the second game but made them all count for Garcia's fourth victory.

Reynolds, who hurled a no-hitter against the Red Sox last September, nearly duplicated the stunt. The only hits the Red Sox got yesterday were first-inning singles by Dom DiMaggio and Vern Stephens. Hank Bauer singled off loser Mel Parnell with one out in the fifth, advanced to second on a grounder and scored on a line single by Irv Noren.

The Senators defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-2 in 11 innings of the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. Rain washed out the second tilt after two scoreless innings.

With the bases loaded and two out in the 11th, Eddie Yost raised a pop foul. Elmer Valo and Skeets Kell let the ball drop in foul territory behind first, and Yost singled on the next pitch to drive in two runs.

The Detroit Tigers snapped their seven-game losing streak, nipping Chicago, 2-1, after the White Sox had won the first game of the doubleheader, 6-5. Rookie George Lerchen's eighth-inning single drove Johnny Lipon home from second with the winning Tiger run in the eighth.

Error Helps

Minnie Mino's two-run homer and strong relief pitching by Saul Rogovin, another ex-Tiger, won the opener for Chicago.

The Dodgers whittled New York's National league lead to one game, edging Philadelphia, 4-3, in 10 innings.

An error set up Brooklyn's winning run. Peeewe Reese got new life on Granny Hamner's bobble, stole second and scored on a two-out single by Roy Campanella.

Joe Adcock walloped two homers and a single to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Chicago split a twin bill with Pittsburgh. The Pirates, who had lost 20 of 24 starts, rallied to whip the Bruins, 11-2 after losing the opener, 8-2.

The scheduled doubleheader between the Giants and Braves in Boston was postponed because of rain.

Billy Wells Star In MSC Grid Game

EAST LANSING — (AP)—Billy (the Kid) Wells, the Menominee scabback, ran off with the honors at the inter-squad game winding up spring football practice at Michigan State College Saturday.

Wells made both touchdowns as the "Pony backfield" beat the varsity 12-6 and was voted "most valuable" player by representatives of press and radio.

Wells made his first score through guard from five yards out and took a pass from Willie Thrower on his own 40-yard line for the second touchdown.

Tom Yewic, quarterbacking the varsity offense passed to end Doug Bobo of Reed City for the only other touchdown.

Thrower won runner-up honors in the "most valuable" voting for his canny quarterbacking of the winning team. He was particularly effective when passing to a pair of former Flint high school teammates, halfback Leroy Bolden and end Ellis Duckett.

Ed Timmerman and Gene Lektorski, both from Grand Rapids, alternated at fullback with Thrower's outfit.

Yewic also showed up well at quarterback although his team was outscored. He connected three times with passes to end Paul Dekker and looked good carrying the ball.

Vince Pisano and Don McAufliffe played at half for the Varsity and Evan Slonac was at fullback.

The first string defense, working with the Pony outfit, outshone the Varsity offense in the line play. At one point, Yewic's Varsity moved down to the four-yard line but moved one yard more in four downs and had to yield the ball in front of the goal line.

SOUCHOCK SHIFTY

DETROIT — (AP)—Big Steve Souchock of the Detroit Tigers is a handy guy for Manager Red Rolfe to have around. Souchock already has played four positions for the Bengals this season—left field, right field, third base and first base. He performed at the initial sack in yesterday's doubleheader against the Chicago White Sox and cleanly handled 21 chances.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting: Joe Adcock, Reds—hammered two home runs and a single to lead Cincinnati to an 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pitching: Bob Lemoine, Indians and Allie Reynolds, Yankees—Lemoine pitched a two-hit, 1-0 victory over Red Garver and the St. Louis Browns. Reynolds pitched a two-hit, 1-0 victory over Mel Parnell and the Boston Red Sox.

Texas Miss Takes Lead

SEATTLE—(AP)—Betsy Rawls, a quiet Texan with a talkative putter, was looking today for some way to "wrap up this Broadmoor golf course and take it with me."

The straight shooter from Austin knocked a stroke off men's par of 70 at Broadmoor Sunday. She tacked this 69 onto an even 70 of the day before and the 139 total was good for first place in the Seattle leg of the cross-country weathervane open tournament.

Good enough? It was so good that the second-place finishers—Alice and Marelaine Bauer of Sarasota, Fla.—were 11 strokes back with 150s. It was so good it sent Betsy into first place in the weathervane by nine strokes after she had started the Seattle tournament seven strokes behind Babe Didrikzen Zaharias.

The Babe, dogged by tough luck, chuckled as she picked up the $60 check for last money in the $3,000 payoff: "I guess there has to be a first time for everything, and I'm glad to get the sixty."

Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., finishing fourth with 151, moved into third in the weathervane at 446 and picked up $30 in prize money. Patty Berg and Betty Mackinnon tied for fifth with 153.

Kansas City Blues Grab Second In AA

(By The Associated Press)

The red-hot Kansas City Blues smashed Indianapolis 13-1 Sunday to move back into second place of the American association race as leading Milwaukee swept a doubleheader from Louisville.

Kansas City remained 1½ games behind the Brewers while Louisville dropped from second to third, three games off the pace and ½ game ahead of fourth-place Minneapolis in the torrid first division struggle.

Columbus' doubleheader at Minneapolis and Toledo's at St. Paul were rained out.

Milwaukee blasted Louisville 13-2 with Johnny Logan slugging a grand-slam homer to cap a six-run first inning off Rush Kemmerer.

George Estock twirled a six-hit shutout as Milwaukee won the afterpiece 3-0.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Some idea of the fantastic class of the field which will compete in the Palm Beach Round Robin golf tournament at New Rochelle this week may be gained from the fact that Bobby Locke of South Africa, a mighty fine club swinger, failed to make the grade.

He will be employed only as an alternate player and assistant radio commentator.

The practically peerless Bobby, twice winner of the four-day charity classic in the past five years, will not be asked to pay his way onto the Wykagyl course, but he will be permitted to play only in the event that one of the fabulous 16 in the starting line-up comes down with the galloping shingles or is otherwise incapacitated.

It isn't that Locke has loused up the tournament in the four times he has been invited. In addition to winning it in 1947 and 1949, the latter with a whopping "plus" score of 66, he was runner-up in 1948 and finished in a tie for sixth a year ago. It is just that this country, England and the Argentine are so loaded with gifted golfers at the moment that room could not be found for the dour Afrikaner. That and the fact that our PGA, which names 12 players for the Round Robin, can take Bobby or leave him strictly alone.

The golden dozen picked by the PGA to tee off on Thursday are Sammy Snead, Lloyd Mangrum, Jack Burke, Jimmy Demaret, Cary Middlecoff, Skeet Riegel, Jim Frier, Clayton Heafner, Ed Oliver, Marty Furgol, Doug Ford and Jerry Barber. They were chosen on the basis of money winnings for the year. Ben Hogan is about the only American name star missing, and the little wonder will be too busy practicing to defend his Open title to compete.

The sponsors, left with four berths to fill, invited Roberto Levisenzo, the Argentine hotshot who won the event last year and tore right back home; Max Faulkner, the reigning British Open champion; Byron Nelson, who can out-golf any other cattle raiser in Texas; and Claude Harmon, who is the Metropolitan Open champion and a gallery favorite hereabouts.

So, even without Locke, the field is a great one and the tournament itself, for all its cockeyed scoring system, still offers the golfing fan the outstanding bargain to be found. That is, it enables the spectator to watch more of the world's top stars play, with less effort, than any other event on the calendar. It beats the Masters in that respect.

It is never necessary for the gallery to shop around. There are only four foursomes on the course and any one of them is worth following. Usually the four crowds are of more or less equal size, so that no matter how many thousands are swarming through Wykagyl's sand traps there is never much danger of being trampled to death.

The reason, probably, for the crowd's failure to make life miserable for any one or two groups of players is that very few of them ever have the foggiest idea who is leading the tournament, even on the final day. They argue endlessly among themselves about the plus and minus signs on the scoreboard and advance many interesting theories on how a player goes about acquiring one or the other, but they don't really care. It is the one tournament in which the competitive angle is secondary with most of the customers.

Preliminary announcements have been received scheduling the two session elimination tournament at Milwaukee June 8 to select the four individuals eligible to play the annual Goren individual tournament which will be held in Chicago on three successive days, June 20-21-22. The four selected will represent the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Bridge Association. This tournament covers the midwestern field from Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky on the east, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri on the west. Mr. Goren himself won last year's event. In former years it was sponsored by the Chicago Tribune and now jointly sponsored by the Mid-West Bridge Association, which is a group association of representatives of all the state associations in the mid-west.

Bomb 35 Years Old

LONDON—Workers clearing a blitzed area of East London scraped up a bomb and got ready to call demolition experts. Then they looked again. It was a 150-pound bomb dropped from a German Zeppelin during World War I, 35 years ago.

The United States paid all its public debt in 1835, but a new national debt was soon created by war and depression.
